

Principal Shelly is an administrator backed by the Winky Links corporation to manage the financial health of CHS rather than the quality of the education of the student body. He knows nothing about education. He was previously the CEO of a private health maintenance organization that he ran into bankruptcy by extending coverage to the housecats of wealthy widows suffering from animal hoarding syndrome. He knows little about his students and the goings on at his school. He gets bored easily, wanders around aimlessly annoying people, and leaves early almost every day. He's hard on himself for always screwing up and gets emotional easily. He is a sweet guy, but probably bi-polar.
