

Direction: You need to be in control of this script. Don't be overwhelmed with the alliteration, but don't break it up too much. You should deliver this with an even, regular pace up until the end. The listener needs to feel like this would be hard to say, but should be able to follow along with what you're saying.

The big brown bearded biker biked with broken brakes. As the big brown bearded biker's bike with broken brakes broke into my blind spot I blinked and braked, not bumping into the big brown bearded biker's bike.
