(Professional tone) “Log number 242. Frederick and I searched this place top to bottom with no signs of any inhabitants. While we couldn’t find anyone in the building itself, it’s definitely clear the fugitive was here. However it’s impossible to pinpoint the exact time they arrived and dispersed.”

(friendly tone) “Ah come on Freddie! Don’t be so hard on yourself. You know what I think? I think they’re just hella jealous that you were able to figure out more about this case than they ever could!”

“Tell you what, what if we head to the Garrison after this? That always seems to cheer you up! They got that cool new Juke box you’ve been dying to try out!”
